This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. The message in dated "Washington City, January 22, 1840."

North American Boundary. Maps A and B. Appended to the report of British commissioners appointed in 1839 to survey and explore the territory in dispute between the government of Great Britain and the United States of America under the second article of the treaty of 1883. Foreign office. April, 1840. [5785

North American Boundary. Part I. Correspondence relating to the boundary between the British possessions in North America and the United States of America, under the treaty of 1783. Presented to both Houses of Parliament by command of Her Majesty. July 1840. London: T. R. Harrison. 1840. fol. pp. 6. 16mo. [5786

The same. Part II. Presented to both Houses of Parliament by command of Her Majesty, July, 1840. London: 1840. Fol. pp. 57. Appendix, pp. 2, 37. (2 folded maps.) [5787

This collection of the papers, concerning the arbitration of the disputed question of the north eastern boundary, is very valuable, not only because of its relation to that particular portion of our limits, and of its importance in our diplomatic history, but also, because of the many historical documents, ancient and modern, concerning Maine and Acadia, which were referred to or submitted in evidence.

MAINE ALMANACK AND REGISTER, for the year of our Lord 1805: being the first year after bissextile, or leap year, and the twenty ninth year of American Independence. Calculated for the meridian of Portland, in latitude 43d., 34 m. north, and longitude 70d. 6m. west of London. Particularly adapted to the district of Maine.

"And Reason now through number, time and space,
Darts the keen lustre of her serious eye,
And learns from facts compar'd, the laws to trace,
Whose long progression leads to Deity.
Can mortal strength presume to soar so high,
Can mortal sight, so oft! bedim'd with tears,
Such glory bear,—For lo, the shadows fly
From nature's face; confusion disappears,
And order charms the eyes, and harmony the ears."

——Indian Grants and Conveyances. Forasmuch as there have been many disputes and controversies for a long time, concerning the titles to a great part of the lands in the eastern part of this province; many of which are claimed by virtue of ancient grants and conveyances from the native Indians, most of which controversies are occasioned by said conveyances; and many of them are still subsisting, to the great disquiet and vexation of such as are concerned in those titles; and since the acts and laws of the several governments of the said colonies of New Plymouth, the Massachusetts Bay, and of this province, relating to such grants and conveyances, are in the hands of but few people, especially of those who are most nearly concerned therein; It is therefore apprehended, that the printing and dispersing of extracts and collections of those acts, laws and orders, made from the first and earliest settlement of those colonies, down to the present times will be of considerable service to the concerned, more especially such of them as dwell in those eastern parts, by giving them at once, a clear and full view of the laws, in any manner or degree effecting those conveyances and titles, as follows, viz: (Laws of Mass. Colony, Plymouth Colony, Mass. Province Act and Explanatory Act, all prohibiting the buying or hiring of land of the Indians.) (On the last page:) Boston, January 31, 1753. An Oration, pronounced at Hampden, on the Fourth of July, 1803. By Andrew Morton, Esq.

Disguise thyself as thou wilt, still, Slavery still thou art a bitter draught! and tho' thousands in all ages have been made to drink of thee, thou art no less bitter on that account. Liberty! thrice sweet and gracious goddess, thy taste is grateful, and ever will be so till Nature herself shall change—No tint of words can spot thy snowy mantle, or chymic power turn thy sceptre into iron.

NORUMBEGA. See also, Norembegue.

The earliest maps previous to the survey of the New England coast by Capt. John Smith in 1614, apply this name to a region of uncertain limits, often embracing the entire peninsula east of the Hudson, and south of the St. Lawrence, and sometimes limiting it to a portion of Maine. It first appears on a map of Verrazano in 1539, as "Aranbega."

PENNELL, MRS. LEMIRA C. Portland.

The Memorial Scrap-Book. A combination of precedents, by Mrs. L. C. Pennell, whose novel experience almost exceeds belief. Three years ago last April, Dr. Harlow said "A great many were there who, when brought, were no more insane than I." Dr. Oakes said "You are one of fifty who have told me to-day that they are here unjustly, and they are as much as you." In God's name, where are they now? Why is not a demand made on these men to define what patients are so wronged? First edition-section first. Published Boston, Mass., July, 1883. 8vo. pp. 48. [7334

——This Red Book is partly a reprint of what was published in 1883, and later. And earlier letters from prominent men. Instructions to Dr. Harlow, from Springfield, his letters from the hospital, and much else. By Mrs. L. C. Pennell, 9 Bond Street, Boston. 1886. That class of people about whom the truth is a slander would do well not to set themselves up as leaders in religion or politics. 8vo. pp. 96. [7335

——This Remarkable Essay, "Sickness vs. Smells," and vice versa, was written in Lewiston in 1880, by Mrs. L. C. Pennell. It is now printed for the first time, albeit its fame agitated the M. D.'s, as related in "This Red Book." Copyright secured. July, 1889. Boston. 8vo. pp. 31, (1). [7336

PEPPERRELL, SIR WILLIAM. 1696-1759. Kittery.

"The Pepperrell papers have been scattered to the four winds." PARSONS, Life of Pepperrell. "Their fate is another illustration of the insecurity that attends private collections, no matter how valuable, unless they are placed in the custody of some institution whose existence is not subject to the ordinary accidents of a single life, or the caprices of a single will." ALBERT H. HOYT.

Two volumes of his papers, covering years 1699-1749, chiefly concerning the Louisburg expedition, were rescued by the Rev. Dr. Belknap, and are preserved in the cabinet of the Mass. Hist. Society.

A portrait of Pepperrell, painted in London, in 1751, by Smibert, is owned by Mrs. Anna H. C. Howard, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The engravings in Parsons's Life; in Drake's Boston; in N. E. Reg., Jan. 1866, and in Winsor; Hist. 5: 438, are after it. The Mem. Hist. Boston gives a picture from one in the Essex Inst., Salem, painted by an unknown artist. But S. A. Drake, who reproduced a two-thirds length in Nooks and Corners N. E., p. 145, says it was also by Smibert.

A view of the Pepperrell house appears in the second edition of Parsons' Life, p. 324; Drake's Nooks and Corners; in Mag. Am. Hist. 2: 673; in Lamb's Homes of America (1879), and in Appleton's Journal, 1: 65.

PLACE, MRS. PERRY.

The Hapless Lovers, or Shechem and Dinah. A pathetic memoir, for the use of children. Designed to allure them to a love of the sacred Scriptures. By the author of "The Orphan."

"But let no pen profane like mine,
On sacred themes to rashly dare—
Turn to the books divine
And read the blessed page with prayer."

Portland: Printed for the author. 1830. pp. 24. [7523

——The Affectionate Son. For the use of children. In two parts. Part first.

"The grave, the dark, cold grave, has hid thee from my view,
While I my weary path through life, in solitude pursue,
Thy father, once my only love, is numbered with the dead,
And thou, my first, my only son, my boy, thou too art fled."

By the author of "The Orphan," "Shechem and Dinah." &c. (Portland, Me.: 1840.) 12mo. pp. 36. [7524

——The same, under the following title:

The Affectionate Son: for the use of children. In two parts. Part the first.

"Then said the spirit unto me, write! write what great things the Lord has done for my soul!"

"I commanded John to seal up these things which the seven thunders uttered, and write them not. But I command you to write what the spirit has revealed to you."

"And be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."

"Had some good angel op'd to me that book
Of Providence, and let me read my life,
My heart had broke when I beheld the sum
Of ills, which, one by one, I have endured."

By the author of "The Orphan," "Shechem and Dinah," &c. Portland: Printed for the author. 1840. 18mo. pp. 34. [7525

——The Affectionate Son, for the use of children. In two parts. Part second.

"The sorrows of a mother are above all human consolation, and can be soothed by nothing earthly. God has reserved to himself alone the power of softening such affliction; and if he has allotted them to that sex which he has created the most feeble, it is because he has, at the same time, created it so tender as to love the hand that smites, and to believe in the only hope which can afford relief."

By the author of "The Orphan," "Shechem and Dinah," &c. Copyright secured. (Portland, Me.: 1840.) 12mo. pp. 36. [7526

——The same. Second edition. Portland. 1840. 18mo. pp. 32. [7527

PORTER, EBENEZER, D. D. 1772-1832. President Theological Seminary, Andover, Mass.

A Sermon preached Sept. 29, 1819, at the ordination of the Rev. Thomas J. Murdock, in Portland. By Ebenezer Porter, D. D., Bartlet prof. of sacred rhetoric in Theol. Seminary, Andover. Andover: Published by Flagg & Gould. 1819. 8vo. pp. 24. [7769

——The Rhetorical Reader: consisting of instructions for regulating the voice, with a rhetorical notation, illustrating inflection, emphasis and modulation; and a course of rhetorical exercises. Designed for the use of academies and high-schools. By Ebenezer Porter, D. D., late president of the Theological Seminary, Andover. Eighteenth edition, with an appendix. Waterville, Me. E. Davis and Company. Andover: Gould & Newman, 1836. 12mo. pp. 304. [7770

It is doubtful if this was printed or published in Waterville. A custom once prevailed of placing the name of any bookseller who purchased a certain number of copies of a schoolbook, upon their title-page.

Gives thee to make thy neighbor's blessing thine.
Is this too little for the boundless heart?
Extend it, let thy enemies have part:
Grasp the whole world of reason, life, and sense,
In one close system of benevolence:
Happier as kinder, in whate'er degree,
And height of bliss but height of charity."

PRAY, EDMUND.

Two Discourses on the law of Moses from Mount Sinai, and the law of God from Mount Sion. By Edmund Pray. Discourse I. On the law of Moses, on Mt. Sinai engraved on tables of stone: designed for the Jews only and for them but for a limited time, till the Messiah should come. This was only a law of works or carnal ordinances, and gendered to bondage: and was not that "Law of the Lord" spoken of by David, which converteth the soul. Discourse II. On the law of God which proceeds from Mount Sion, where Christ as the chief stone is laid for the hope of the guilty: or the perfect law of liberty, which bringeth life to all who submit to it, and is obligatory or binding both on Jews and on Gentiles. Hallowell: Printed for the author. 1833. 24mo. pp. 144. [8267

PREBLE, GEORGE HENRY. 1816-83. U. S. Naval officer. b. Portland.

Genealogical Sketch of the first three generations of Prebles in America: with an account of Abraham Preble, the emigrant, their common ancestor, and of his grandson, Brigadier General Jedediah Preble, and his descendants. By Geo. Henry Preble, Captain U. S. Army.

"The fame that a man wins himself is best
That he may call his own; honors put on him
Make him no more a man than his clothes do,
Which are soon ta'en off; for in the warmth
The heat comes from his own body, not the weeds;
So man's true fame must strike from his own deeds."

——A Sermon on the conditionality of man's salvation: or the distinction between the laws and the gospel. By Joshua Randell.

"And if by grace, then it is no more of works; otherwise grace is no more grace. But if it be of works, then it is no more grace; otherwise work is no more work."

Rom. 11: 6.

(Thus, it is on the principles of justice, and the condition is, works, according to the first covenant, or it is on the principle of grace, and the condition is faith, according to the second covenant.)

"Now to him that worketh (that is, performs the condition of the covenant of works) is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt. But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, (that is, performs the condition of the covenant of grace) his faith is counted for righteousness."

"And, behold the Lord passed by, and a great and strong wind rent the mountains and brake in pieces the rocks, before the Lord; but the Lord was not in the wind: and after the wind an earthquake; but the Lord was not in the earthquake: and after the earthquake a fire; but the Lord was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voice."
I Kings, 19: 11, 12.

"Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God."

RESURRECTION OF THE BLUE-LAWS (A); or Maine reform in temperate doses. Being a discussion of the principles, moral, political, and constitutional, involved in the provisions of the liquor bill, before the Massachusetts Legislature during the session of 1852. By a Primitive Washingtonian.

"———Tell
Why thy canoniz'd bones, hearsed in death,
Have burst their cerements; why the sepulchre,
Wherein we saw thee quietly inurn'd,
Hath op'd his ponderous and marble jaws,
To cast thee up again. What may this mean,
That thou, dead corse, again in complete steel,
Revist'st thus the glimpses of the moon,
Making night hideous?"

Founded in 1819, and formerly edited by Daniel Robinson. (Illus.)

"The moon so constant in inconstancy,
Doth rule the monthly seasons orderly;
The sun, eye of the world, doth know his race,
And when to show and when to hide his face.
O Lord, thy providence sufficeth all:
Thy goodness, not restrained but general
Over thy creatures: the whole earth doth flow
With thy great largness poured forth here below."

Crura vaccillanti, tardescit lingua, madet mens.
Nant oculi, clamor, singultus, jurgia gliscunt.
Lucretius, Lib. iii. ver. 475.

New illustrated edition. Two volumes in one. Springfield, Mass.: W. J. Holland & Co. 1873. 12mo. pp. 301 and 332. [8853

First published in separate numbers, in 1835. The story of "Kitty Grafton," 2: 5, is founded on fact, and the village of Heathermead, its scene, is New Gloucester. Parson Moore, the narrator, was not a minister, but was General Samuel Fessenden, afterwards of Portland. The little boy named in the tale was Mr. Lane, the founder of Lane Seminary, Ohio. John H. Sheppard's memoir of Mr. Sargent says Prof. Simon Greenleaf, whose early life was passed in New Gloucester, wrote the material of the story.

View through each month, what varied seasons rise,
Transform the earth and beautify the skies!
First, Spring advancing, sows the earth with pearl,
Next, Summer comes, to crown the reaper's toil:
Then Autumn, with her richest harvests crowned,
And sober Winter, fills the annual round.

Impavidum ferient ruinæ.

Third edition. Boston: Printed by Beals & Homer, No. 42, Congress Street. 1831. 8vo. pp. 32. [9126

This was a defence of Masonry, and was delivered at a time when the attacks upon the institution were incessant and severe. Three editions of one thousand copies each were published. The address brought upon the author a shower of crimination and abuse from all the anti-Masonic papers in the country. Among those who assailed its sentiments, was Ex-President John Quincy Adams, who denied a statement made in it that John Adams, his father, was a friend to Masonry. To this denial Mr. Sheppard conclusively replied by quoting a letter from the elder Adams to the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, in 1798.

SKETCHES OF DOMESTIC LIFE. By an Observer.

"Lessons of wisdom and principles of action are better understood and more correctly appreciated, when drawn out in the scenes of actual life, than they possibly can be, when simply and abstractedly delivered. And the sentiments which the delineation of character is calculated to illustrate, are better remembered when associated with names, with places and with deeds; whilst they make a far deeper impression upon the heart, from the circumstances that their nature and tendency are at once demonstrated, by the actual consequences to which they have led."

——The English Scholar's Library. Capt. John Smith of Willoughby by Alford, Lincolnshire; president of Virginia and admiral of New England. Works. 1608-31. What shall I say? but thus we lost him (4 Oct., 1609) that, in all his proceedings, made justice his first guide, and experience his second: even hating baseness, sloth, pride, and indignity, more than any dangers; that never allowed more for himself than his souldiers with him; that upon no danger, would send them where he would not lead them himself; that would never see us want what he either had, or could by any means get us; that would rather want than borrow, or starve than not pay; that loved actions more than words, and hated falsehood and cozenge worse than death; whose adventures were our lives, and whose loss, our death. Richard Pots, Clerk of the council at JamesTown, Virginia. W. Phettiplace, Gentleman. (p. 167.) To Christ and my country a true souldier, and faithfull servant. (Dec., 1626.) John Smith. (p. 788.) The Legislature of Maine undertook to violate the charter of Bowdoin College by authorizing the governor and council to fill vacancies, in and to add new members to the boards of trustees and overseers; thereby taking away the right of election in each board. The opinion decides that such interference was unconstitutional.

SWEETSER, BENJAMIN, JR.

Cumberland Collection of Church Music, being a selection of the best psalm and hymn tunes, anthems, fancy pieces, etc. From European and American authors. Together with many pieces never before published. Designed for the use of schools and musical societies. By Benjamin Sweetser, Jr.

"What thinkst thou Music was ordained for?
This angels love, and devils do abhor:
'Tis Music which doth evil spirits quell,
And clearly differs that of heaven from hell."

"This heavenly art the best of men do use,
And 'tis the thing the worst of men refuse,—
And such as do despise this sacred mirth
Are neither fit for heaven, nor earth."

SYMMES, THOMAS. 1678-1725. Clergyman, Bradford, Mass.

Lovewell Lamented. Or, a sermon occasion'd by the fall of the brave Capt. John Lovewell and several of his valiant company, in the late heroic action at Piggwacket. Pronounc'd at Bradford, May 16, 1725, by Thomas Symmes, V. D. M.

Isa. 3: 25. Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy mighty in the war.

Boston in New-England: Printed by B. Green, Junr. for S. Gerrish, near the Brick Meeting House in Cornhill. 1725. 16mo. pp. (1), xii, 32. [9650

The first edition of this sermon was published July 1, 1725, and was exhausted in a few days. A second edition appeared about the middle of the same month, with a title-page somewhat changed from the original one, as follows:—

——Historical Memoirs of the late fight at Piggwacket, with a sermon occasion'd by the fall of the brave Capt. John Lovewell and several of his valiant company, in the late heroic action there. Pronounc'd at Bradford, May 16, 1725. By Thomas Symmes, V. D. M. The second edition corrected.

Isa. 3: 25. Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy mighty in the war.

Boston in New-England: Printed by B. Green, Jun. for S. Gerrish, near the Brick Meeting-House in Cornhill. 1725. 16mo pp. (1), xii, 32. [9651

A perfect copy of this edition has been sold for $175. At the Brinley sale a copy brought $132.50.

——The History of the Fight of the Intrepid Captain John Lovell, which took place on the eighth day of May, 1725, on the beach of Lovell's Pond, in Fryeburg, in the district of Maine; together with the commemoration sermon delivered by the Rev. Thomas Symmes. Fryeburg: 1799. 12mo. pp. 60. [9652

This was edited by Elijah Russell then publishing "Russell's Echo" (a newspaper), in Fryeburg. The account is substantially the same as that given by Symmes, although there is some additional matter, such as the story of the duel between Paugus and Chamberlain. Perfect copies of this edition are very rare. No copy is known to exist which contains the title-page. The title as above is taken from "A Descriptive Catalogue of Books and Pamphlets relating to the History and Statistics of Maine, or Portions of it," by William Willis Hist. Mag. 2d ser. 7: 161-162.

——A Brief History of the battle which was fought on the 8th of May, 1725, between Capt. John Lovell, with his associates, and a body of Indians under the command of Paugus, sachem of the Pigwacket tribe. By T. Symmes, pastor of the church in Bradford, Mass. Portland: Printed by A. & J. Shirley. 1818. 12mo. pp. 19. [9653

"Preliminary Remarks" to this edition, dated at "Fryeburg, April 8, 1818," contains a brief account of the early settlement of that town.

——The Original Account of Capt. John Lovewell's "Great Fight" with the Indians at Pequawket, May 8, 1725. By Rev. Thomas Symmes, of Bradford, Mass. A new edition with notes, by Nathaniel Bouton, corresponding secretary of the New Hampshire Historical Society. Concord, N. H.: P. B. Cogswell, Printer. 1861. sm. 4to. pp. 48. (Map.) [9654

This contains matter from other sources than Symmes. It is noticed by Browne, B. F., in Coll. Essex Inst. 3: 145. (1861.)

——The Expeditions of Capt. John Lovewell and His Encounters with the Indians: including a particular account of the Pequauket battle, with a history of that tribe; and a reprint of Rev. Thomas Symmes's sermon. By Frederic Kidder. Boston: Bartlett & Halliday. 1865. 4to. pp. 138. (Map.) [9655

Two hundred and thirty-five copies were printed, twenty-five of them being on large quarto and ten on drawing paper. The work is reviewed in N. E. Reg. 13: 93. (1866.)

This edition mainly follows the second edition of Symmes's account. The map of the scene of action is the same as that in Bouton's account, and in Winsor's History of America, 5: 433.

Where are thy men of might ? thy grand in soul ?
Gone—glimmering thro' the dream of things that were:
First in the race that led to Glory's goal,
They won, and pass'd away—is this the whole ?

TREE OF LIFE, THE FLYING ANGEL, AND THE MILLENNIUM (THE).

"And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred and tongue and people, saying, with a loud voice, give glory to God, for the hour of his judgment has come: and worship him who made heaven and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters."

Rev. 14: 6, 7.

The angel makes known the twenty-four events, the steps to complete his mission, and to fit man for heaven and all good, which occurred in consequence of Christ's ascending the cross, and now for the first put in order to be preached to every creature under heaven, which once commenced at Jerusalem and spread among many nations.

"It is written in the prophets, and they shall be taught of God."

TURNER, THOMAS. Portland.

An Epitome of Bookkeeping by Double Entry; delineated on a scale suited to the faculties and comprehension of senior school boys and youth, designed for the mercantile line. Comprising systematic and unerring rules for the forming monthly statements of books, as well as those for opening, conducting, adjusting, and closing them;—with explanations of theory, and exhibitions of practice, rendered easy to the smallest capacity: and calculated to initiate them in the true principles, and to make them perfect in the rules, by a little practice. To which are added, rules for keeping retail books by double entry, without altering the process of single entry in the day-books and journal, for all sales of merchandise; by which one half the writing is saved, and the ledger exonerated from items, and rendered a prompt and sure proof of monthly balances and annual profits. Also, the most easy, concise and safe way of calculating any rate per cent, and especially that of interest at six per cent per annum. By Thomas Turner, professor and teacher of book-keeping, at Portland. Portland: Printed by Jenks & Shirley, for Thomas Clark (Proprietor), and for sale at his Bookstore, Fish Street, and by the principal Booksellers in the United States. 1804. 12mo. pp. 148. [9973

This association existed until 1828, being virtually a state convention. During that year its name was changed to the Maine Convention of Universalist, and held annual sessions until 1861, written minutes of which, and for several years printed reports are preserved. In 1861 it was legally incorporated as the Maine Universalists Convention, and minutes of each annual session from that year inclusive have been printed, with some exceptions, as follows:

Minutes of session held at Portland. 1861. 8vo.

Minutes of session held at Bath. 1862. 8vo.

Minutes of session held at Calais. 1863. 8vo.

Weatherwise's Almanack, for the year of Christian æra, 1787: Being the third after bissextile or leap year, and the eleventh of American Independence. Calculated for the meridian of Portland, Lat. 43 deg. 56 min. North.

"When silent night her dark dominion holds,
And throws her sable veil o'er Nature's face,
The sage Philosopher delights to walk
The starry sky, and trace the milky way.
With every aid that mathematic art
And optic science to his use afford,
With penetrating eye he marks the path
Of each revolving planet round the sun:
By frequent observations, nicely made,
And calculations accurate, he tells
Their true dimensions, distances and times."

Portland: Printed by Thomas B. Wait, in Middle Street. 18mo. pp. 18. [10,204

——The York, Cumberland & Lincoln Almanack, for the year of Christian era, 1788: being bissextile, or leap year; and the twelfth of American Independence, calculated for the meridian of Portland. Lat. 43 deg. 56 min. North. N. Low. Astronomy.

"Hail sacred science! by thy friendly aid,
Are Nature's mysteries to man display'd;
By thee the worlds in circling paths we trace,
And view a planet through the azure space;
The blazing comet in its course pursue,
And in his works the great Creator view."

Our Nation; by Mary.

America must be ruled by the free voices of its children.
True and useful knowledge must be imparted freely to all classes of society.
The oppressed of all nations that have found a home in America—Shall they not freely unite their voices with its own glad children?
True knowledge of God's works and ways,
Is power and liberty and peace.

——The same, under the following title:

Mogg Megone. A poem by John Greenleaf Whittier. Boston: Light & Stearns. 1836. 24mo. pp. 69. [10,656

This was the first bound volume, exclusively of verse, ever issued by Whittier. He never tried so persistently to suppress any other poem. In the edition of 1888 he succeeded in relegating it to the appendix. It probably would not have been finished but for material which came to his hand in two books of history published after some lines of it had been written. These were Folsom's History of Saco and Biddeford, and Williamson's History of Maine, published respectively in 1830 and 1832. Life and Letters, 1: 203, 204.

——The same. With an appendix and general index. By William D. Williamson, corresponding member of the Massachusetts Historical Society in Maine. A new impression. In two volumes. Hallowell: Glazier, Masters & Smith. 1839. Vol. I, pp. 696. Vol. II, pp. 729. [10,763

This should have been termed "A new edition." Three hundred and thirty copies of the original impression which remained in sheets, were bound, in 1839, with the following matter, viz: 1. A new title-page. 2. An appendix to the first volume, containing 46 pages of "Sketches of the principal characters in Maine during the first century after the settlement of the country alphabetically arranged." 3. An appendix to the second volume, in which there is a general index. Prefixed to the first volume is a lithographic likeness of the author, and to the second a view of the statehouse. The work is now rare. A copy sold for $12.50 in 1887.

This Review, established in 1834, was first conducted by Dr. Woods. The Rev. Edwards A. Park says that his management continued for two years after his removal to Bangor, in the fall of 1835. Seventeen articles are attributed to him, but those, if any, written in Maine, cannot be identified. The year of his translation of an "Essay on Generative Principle of Political Constitutions, from the French of De Maistre," is also uncertain.
